A paper on magik and subliminal logic/mental judo
by Wm/jones

I have read your paper on sexual magik "nine-fold flowering of alchemies within the eleven star" by fraterPVN. I have experimented with this system in the following way.

I did not have a sexual partner so I became both the giver and receiver of the elixirs. After a time I found that masturbation was a form of thought experiment. If I did such and such then this would happen. At the moment of orgasm I would say "I will understand magik" I think that this was a form of positive conditioning to develop magikal insights. I continued this practice for about one year.

at first I began to see God (christ) as a peer. This could be attributed to my roman catholic upbringing where everything sexual or magikal are taboo. These old conditionings broke down quickly. I was free to think of human nature in new ways. I began to notice christ seemed more feminine than masculine. He was portrayed wearing a white robe (temple virgins wore white) and his hair was long and flowing like a woman's. I also became interested in Jung's anima and animus (male ~~feal~~ female). I am an adult heterosexual male so I began to express my feminine aspects. Sometimes I would wear a woman's pink sweater or a piece of woman's jewelry pinned to my coat. This would inevitably make me very self-conscious, but as I continued I began to feel that self-consciousness is in fact a form of self-awareness. That self-awareness can make you uncomfortable.

~~-I-remembered~~

I remembered an experiment in psychology that related to subliminal suggestion. It seems that some subjects were shown a movie and for 1/20 of a second (below the threshold of consciousness) popcorn is in the lobby was flashed on the screen. About 10% of the subjects went to the lobby for popcorn. Not so amazing. What if someone had arranged ~~for~~ for them to miss the breakfast and lunch? What if popcorn had some kind of special meaning in their lives? Perhaps it brought back fond memories?

No one will accept a subliminal suggestion unless they want to.

In ~~je~~ judo your opponents momentum is ~~y~~ used to your advantage.

I was in a bar one nite (naturely) and I was furiously puffing on my pipe making tons of smoke. About 20 ft. away from me a man (I was later to find out he was the town ASS KICKER) said in aloud and hos manner " Your stinking up the whole bar with that damn pipe of your's " I was wearing a denim jacket and a pink ~~jacket~~- sweater and the bar was noisey and dim. I whispered so the people next to me could not hear, "I am wearing a womans pink sweater, I am evil, black magic, hail satan." looking him strait in the eye. Within 3or4 seconds he left the bar mumbeling to himself.

This is how I analized what happened. He disliked me becaus I was "stinking up the whole bar". I simply used this momentum and gave him even more reasons to hate me. One I told him that I am evil (I think that life is evil -live is evil spelled backwards) two that I practice black (magik) (subliminal logic is a form of magik) and that I was in league with the devil (this is simply an evil propagated by evil ~~peopl~~ people.) there is no satan. If he doubted his own FEELINGS all he had to do was look at my pink sweater ~~for~~ ^{for} verification. The "cue" (my pink sweater) had to be as radical as the suggestion. I feel that just staring him directly in the eye (the EVIL eye) is a good enough cue. the next time that I saw him I suggested to him that I was an intelligent being, (he has been bying me drinks ever since).

The~~n~~ next logical step would be to raise his ^{consciousness} ~~consciousness~~ to a spiritual level. But there is an order to these energies-suggestions in the back of every subjects mind they have a feeling for what is going on. If you are intelligent enough to be aware of the profound misery that most of us spend our lives (that life is basically an evil experience) and have accepted this, and can prove it by using subliminal logic (black logic magik) then the subject is going to want to think that you are intelligent. that is the next natural energy level. After you have PROVED that you are in touch with life and are intelligent you can suggest that God is love or that life is peace and your subject will become aware of the spiritual nature of life.
-awerenesses

These suggestions do not have to be very loud. Human hearing is very sensitive. A psychologist once told me that if human hearing were a little more sensitive - we could hear the molecules vibrating in the walls around us.

Subliminal suggestion (magik) is a new field for me. I only been active in it since '85'. I am interested in corresponding with anyone about subliminal logic or sexual magik.

inclosed are a few poems
