Long before there were human beings on this planet, in a far off galaxy, there lived a young princess by the name of Romoa -- i'Tta, who was to come to the Earth at some future time, and to lead a life of heroic virtue, eventually becoming a saint of the Catholic Religion. In her temple-school. Ra - Ma - El the teacher of i'Tta taught her all of the occult sciences and metaphysical skills. However, in order for her to pass her initiation as a saint, it was necessary that she be allowed by Ra - Ma - El to be tempted by the powers of nonbeing toward spiritual pride and curiosity about the non-existing planes of future being. We have sought by means of this very charming little story, to show that i'Tta, who later became Santa Rosa de Lima, was just like all of us in her spiritual struggle for perfection. Like us she is tried and tempted, but--and this should give us courage--she never fell under the powers of evil and the desire for unfamiliar power was never hers. Let us go back in time to that place, where Romoa -- i'Tta lived and perfected herself to become a woman of great mysticism, for i'Tta is more than just a great saint, she is the symbol of us all.

We have asked Za Hyo Pur, the poet of the Monastery of the Seven Rays, to present the theme for each picture, to be followed by my own commentary.

"Come my little rose of light-borne heaven's love-- thou my child - daughter, the temple of wisdom awaiteth and thou my innocent shall gaze upon all manner of true doctrine.
Look well O my fairest little rose of sweetest love, see the worlds and their wonders. See the truth and forget all else, for it be error."

i'Tta now begins to study the truth of metaphysics and under the direction of Ra - Ma - El, she becomes an expert in the invisible sciences.

"Most chaste muse of fairest and holiest desires -- read well thy first sacred document -- know that forthcoming there shall be trial and test.
Thou shalt be tempted and yet thou shalt not fall, for thy soul must know wisdom's tragic heart."

i'Tta now begins to study the sacred monographs of the cosmos.
She is advised that she will be tempted by nonbeings in the constellation of error, who will approach her consciousness.
Yet she will triumph over all.

"Take in thy hand these roses of light, thou most chaste bride of true doctrine.

Look well my child upon the world unseen, for thou art both daughter of such protective love -- yet to be tempted to vain error's pathway."

i'Tta has taken as her symbol the roses of light, which are magical flowers, which will help her always to discern truth from ugly error.

"Thy pride like the blue rose, thou must sacrifice to the light -- guided by thy holy teacher, put on the robes of sacred learning, yet come forth not as priestess of the light, but as a child born of love's own gliding winglets."

i'Tta offers the blue rose, her own symbol, to the Invisibles. Now she has been accepted as a child born of cosmic love, and she may progress in her studies, now that she has humbled herself before the truth.

"Yoked to thy undoing, vain psychisms amid all false doctrine-- thou musing angel dost see forbidden mysteries and powers cabalistique. O would thy loving teacher dare to direct thy soul toward heavenly doctrine."

i'Tta is tempted by what she sees as she skryies-in-the-spirit-vision, can she overcome the temptation on her own efforts, or must she be helped by her teacher Ra-Ma-El?

"O my truest and my fairest, O my sweetest and my most pure muse, resisting the vain temptations of error you are my beloved rose. For from thou my ever so pure error must flee in this hour of trial. Come forth my child and say 'love' where error desires servitude."

i'Tta has overcome on her own merits the temptations of false science and erroneous metaphysics. She is now the ever so pure Virgin of the World, the goddess of wisdom incarnate.

"Sweetest, truest, fairest, and purest rose of the garden of divine love, thy adept-teacher's science hath prevailed, amid the Seven Rays of love's own cosmic illumination, with lo a Master of the Wisdom appearing."

Itta is now ready to incarnate as Santa Rosa de Lima. She has been saved by her love of the blue roses, which having shown her the power of judgement, have directed her towards her teacher, whom she now realises to be an initiate of the world. Then, amid all of the glory of the inner most shrine of divine love, there appears the Master of the Wisdom who will provide the plan of her life to come. This Master is Saint Dominic, who fought all of his life against error and false doctrine.

I MUST ADD A FEW THOUGHTS -

1- I FEEL MATERIAL SUCH AS THIS AND THE ALERTS BELONGS IN PUBLIC DOMAIN - PERHAPS IN MANY WAYS THIS STUFF HOLDS MORE POWER THAN THE CABALA & SUCH - IT'S FLEXIBLE, ITS DATED & THERES HOLES TO FILL.

2 - MUCH CAN BE ADDED, AND I BET YA MUCH WILL. THOSE CRIES OF LOST TAX SHELTER ARE, IN THE END, JUSTIFIABLE. LOSING ABILITY TO SEND DATA OUT AT NOT-PROFIT RATES IS A DRAG, CONSIDERING MANY GROUPS HAVE, IT SEEMS, A LOT TO SAY ABOUT THEMSELVES. PAYING MAGAZINE RATES ALWAYS HURT ME WHEN I TRIED PUBLISHING, BUT I STAYED IN THE RED & TRIED TO KEEP SMILING. IT WOULD BE SOMETHING TO SEE JUST WHAT WOULD STAY 'ALIVE' IF SO MANY NON-PROFITS WERE TO LOSE FREE OR/BULK RATES.

3. WHAT'S ALL THIS ABOUT LOSS OF RIGHT TO MARRY STUFF - JUST GOT MORE IN MAIL TODAY & IT DOESN'T SAY DIDLEE - SQUAT ABOUT TAX-FREE ACREGE IN JEOPORDY OR PROFIT-MAKING OFFSHOOT FLIERS FROM NON-PROFIT MAGAZINE OR NEWSLETTER SUBSCRIBERS LISTS? ARE WE ALL REALLY WORRYING ABOUT THE SAME THINGS?

LET'S, EACH OF US, LIST WHAT WE WILL LOSE WHEN AM705 IS LAW.

I'D LIKE TO OPEN THIS UP FOR DISLUSSION SOMETHOW
