

The mouth is the initial receptical of the elixir. From here, it may be absorbed directly into the higher chakras sub-lingually thru the blood vessels beneath the tongue. It may also (with practice) be imbibed upwards into the sinuses by using the tongue to funnel & squirt the elixir back to the throat, then upward over the soft palate. Finally it may be swallowed into the fire of the stomach.

If swallowed, the elixir becomes fuel to run the solar furnace which burns away the dross & sends the perfume of the elixir upward to attract the attentions of the Second Order. This action opens the central chakras & allows the decent of the Holy Spirit into the outer Order. The cauldron of flames in the OTO sigil is symbolic of this process.

If allowed to dissolve into the membranes of the mouth, the elixir nourishes the upper chakras & opens the throat, allowing communication betewwen the inner & middle Orders. Such is the place of vision. If the gateway to the lower Order has not been opened thru the firey purification outlined above, nightmare &/or obsession can sometimes result.

Upward swallowing of the elixir nourishes the third eye & allows the cranial suture to open fully, inviting initiation from the Universe at large. Mania can sometimes result from this practice if the Will is not formulated fully thru clearly forged channels between the inner & second Orders.

For the most part, I combine my elixir with spit & then annoint the absorbtive tissues of the anus & perianum, as well as the external analogs to the ather chakras (solar plexus, heart, throat, third eye, & crown). Depending on my mood, I may annoint the internal anus, & then transfer a bit of the tri-une elixir back to my mouth. I may also annoint my eyelids &/or my entire middle pillar with the combined elixir. At the same time, I place some of the elixir beneath my tongue, while dividing the rest between by stomach & upper sinuses. By combining all 3 paths in each operation, I am able to open, nourish, &/or maintain all links throughout the microcosmic Order within my body. Through the use of IX<sup>o</sup> & XI<sup>o</sup> (particularly in groups), the formula is extended to the macrocosmic Order as well.

Upon awaking, I performed an VIII<sup>o</sup> using all of these techniques consciously (all have been used by me intuitively for quite some time now). Visions of pagan Great Rite ceremonies turning into orgies of genetic communion/communication. The time is ripe. We shall see what can be catalysed at STARWOOD.

Yesterday I contacted the Crystal Council. They will be sending me $200 worth of crystals for me to take on the road with me. They will be including some samples of amethyst rods and about 2 dozen or so 1-2" fluorite octahedrons for use in the networking project.

Love is the law, love under will.
